

Oh hey! It's us, E entry folks. We don't have a demonym but there was a campaign going around to call us eers for a while. Like ears? Ya know?

The best way to describe us is "a friend group that does inside things." We own a TON of board games, play ALMOST A TON of board games (some of them are sorta weird), watch movies and TV shows, keep a quotes board, and have arguments about how to pronounce words ... among other things.

We like food, also. This includes baked goods, some of which have been featured on this page because they're cute.

Wanna join us but worried you won't find someone to join in your other, unmentioned hobbies? Do not panic—we're always looking for new adventures.

You are welcome here.

Also, yes. We made all of those snowflakes. :O
